

SOLDIER SHOT IN BACK AT PARK

Private Found Dead in Road.
Two Robberies During Night.
May Have Connection.

Ira Addy, aged 22, a private in company M, Fifty-second infantry, was shot and killed Tuesday night about 8:30 o'clock in Chickamauga Park, near Wilder's monument. The weapon which snuffed out the young soldier's life, was wielded by an unknown hand.

Addy's body was found lying in the road, and an examination revealed that he had been shot at close range, as his clothing was powder burned. It was evident that the weapon had been placed against his back and discharged. One of the bullets entered his back on the right side and passed through his heart. The second shot went through his abdomen. A third shot grazed his ear.

With the finding of the body the military authorities at once started an investigation and Capt. Kenneth E. Kern, chief of the provost guard, upon being notified, dispatched Lieut. Randolph to assist Capt. Herick, of the Fifty-second infantry, in working on the case. In the absence of Capt. Campbell, Lieut. Randolph directed the work of that officer's men, who are still conducting their investigations.

The tragedy is also being investigated by a board of officers of the Fifty-second infantry.

Information from Fort Oglethorpe is that there were two robberies there Tuesday night, and the supposition is that these crimes might have some connection with Addy's death. A theory is that robbery was the motive responsible for the infantryman's murder.

It has been ascertained that the revolver which sent its leaden messengers of death into Addy's body was a .32 calibre weapon, but not a regulation army gun.

Bloodhounds of Perry Phipps were dispatched to the spot where the body was found, but were unable to scent a trail for the reason that several people had been there and the ground had been trampled.

It is thought that Addy had been to Chickamauga as he had a box of stationery when he was found.

The body of Addy was brought to Chapman's undertaking establishment and prepared for burial.

Addy's mother, Mrs. Abbie Addy, resides at Galena, Kan.

Dandruff Heads Become Hairless

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single scale and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.—(Adv.)

HUFFAKER TO EXERT EVERY EFFORT TO MAKE THIS CITY HIGHLY SANITARY

Dr. Knight Disappointed at Commission's Failure to Appropriate Funds—Spring Clean-Up Planned and Health Officers Will Be Held.

Commissioner H. D. Huffaker stated Wednesday that even though the commissioners did not favor the $7,000 additional appropriation for the health work here, he will pay the three additional inspectors, temporarily, out of his budget, these having already been added to the department.

E. A. Cannon, one of the new inspectors will have charge of the register of cattle and the other two workers will do field work and are J. D. Nelson and W. P. Hall.

In speaking of the funds needed for the health department, the commissioner stated that he could not put on as many additional inspectors as he had intended in view of the failure of the appropriation. He was very much disappointed that the resolution failed to pass at the commissioners' meeting Tuesday. The motion was tabled, and it is hoped the commissioners will take the matter up again and take some action on it.

Seven Smallpox Cases.

With five cases of smallpox reported to the city health department Tuesday and two cases Wednesday, a total of seven in two days, Commissioner Huffaker reviewed the fact that during H. Clay Edwards' inspection, there was an outbreak of smallpox and the board appropriated $10,000. Mr. Huffaker said it was true that Mr. Edwards turned a considerable sum of this amount back to the city, but he had been able to have done the same with the amount he asked for. However, he did not want to feel that he had to be continually before the board asking for small amounts to carry on the work.

With the three additional members of the city health department it will add materially to the health conditions, and a spring clean-up campaign will be started at once. Commissioner Huffaker is planning a whirlwind campaign and is going to enlist every member of the department in the work.

In speaking of the action taken by the commissioners Tuesday, Dr. C. P. Knight, of the health service, stated that he was very much grieved to learn that Mr. Huffaker's resolution did not pass. He called attention to the fact that while he was here at work in this zone he was willing to assist Mr. Huffaker in every way possible in his work, but that he might be called away any day, together with his entire force, and then there would be no one to step in. He further said he agreed with Mr. Huffaker in feeling that some appropriation should be made.

Dr. Knight said it had been stated on several occasions by public officials that they had never seen the list of personnel and appropriations needed by the health department for adequate and efficient organization which he presented to the health commissioner some time ago. This list has been given out by the Commissioner Huffaker and Dr. Knight. It is as follows:

Whole-time health officer (to be a physician), $3,000 per annum.
Three sanitary inspectors, at $1,200 per annum, $3,600.
One milk inspector, $1,200 per annum.
Two public health nurses at $1,200 per annum, $2,400.
One clerk to health officer, $720 per annum.
One automobile, $500 per annum.
 upkeep of car, $300 per annum.

LENTEN SEASON USHERED IN BY ASH WEDNESDAY

Distribution of Palm Leaf Ashes Takes Place in Ritualistic Churches.

The ushering in of the Lenten season, by Ash Wednesday, is being observed today in St. Paul's Episcopal church, Christ Episcopal church and St. Peter and Paul's Catholic church. As a part of the service of the latter churches, the ashes of the palms burned on Palm Sunday one year ago will, according to the custom of all ritualistic churches, be distributed.

The ceremony is a symbolic of penitence and of the service of the Lenten season. The "sack cloth and ashes" of ancient Israel.

Mass was held at St. Peter and Paul's at 8:30 and 10 o'clock this morning, with distribution of ashes at 8 and 10 o'clock. Distribution of ashes took place at Christ church this morning and at the later service. Services will be held each day during the week. The Lenten services of St. Paul's Episcopal church will be held on Wednesdays and Fridays with special services during passion week. Dr. W. J. Leaning Clark, the rector, announced the change of services because of war conditions.

HUFFAKER WANTS $7,000 FOR HEALTH WORK

Commissioner Huffaker brought a resolution before the city commissioners Tuesday afternoon, asking for $7,000 to be used by the health department. It was announced that the means of the department were almost exhausted and that as money was needed for the health department, it should be made to take care of this department. He was asked if the need was immediate and the commissioner said there was money enough to carry on the work of the department for the next sixty or ninety days, possibly longer.

Mayor Littleton and Commissioner Ed Bass took the position that it is not a good thing to throw money and interest on it without knowing definitely how much was needed.

When Commissioner Huffaker was promised the support of the commissioners whenever he was in immediate need of funds, he withdrew the resolution.

DOOM OF ICE CREAM CONE IS SOUNDED BY COMMISSION

No Cream Can Be Sold On Streets Unless Wrapped in Oiled Paper at Factory.

At Tuesday's meeting of the city commissioners an ordinance was passed prohibiting the sale of individual portions of ice cream on the street without being wrapped in oiled paper at the manufacturing plant. This was considered essential for the health of the city's boys and girls. This ordinance also included other stringent regulations governing the manufacturing of cream and pasteurization of milk and provides a fine of $2 to $50 for violation of this ordinance.

Commissioner Huffaker said that the ordinance is especially for the purpose of enforcing strict regulation of the pasteurization of milk. He further said: "It is aimed for the protection of school children in putting out of business the street vendors of ice cream who have long been a menace to our city."

This ordinance received the hearty support of all the commissioners.

ST. VALENTINE'S DAY.

Away with dull care, say Cupid and his messengers, for the day is here, the day which all look for good cheer; just the one day of the year, and that is St. Valentine's, the day of the colored billets-doux nestled in the mail carrier's pack like flowers from fairies in a garden of sage. Nor does he care or complain of the burden grown heavy, but hands each one with a smile at the pleasure.

The shop windows are full of them today, and the prices are right and not affected by the war.

The verses are as sweet as the peaches that are pictured, and the mystery that surrounds the name of the sender embalsms it for keeps.

For days the careful ones in selecting have frequented the valentine counters, and children have been carrying each home for their treasures.

Perhaps they are not made quite so elaborate this year, but those in the market are a variety of the best, and take joy to the heart with their message of love.

FLOUR SHORTAGE GROWS MORE SERIOUS

Food Administrator Charges Some Users Are Attempting to Hoard Bread Staple.

"The flour shortage keeps pressing more and more every day, and I wouldn't be at all surprised if the federal administration does not make very stringent rules in regard to the sale of this product," said this morning the food administrator, Mr. Abel, in the heat of the present wheat crop comes in, we are going to be entirely out of wheat."

This is the opinion of Supt. J. W. Abel, who is now serving as food administrator for Hamilton county. Mr. Abel has just returned from the large gathering of the food administrators of Kentucky and Tennessee held at Knoxville. He says that the shortage of flour in this section was looked upon by those present as being very serious.

Since returning to Chattanooga, Mr. Abel states that it is apparent from the reports coming into his office from various sources that some people are endeavoring to get larger quantities of flour than they are entitled to. The people in the towns and cities are forbidden to buy more than forty-eight pounds, which is equal to one-fourth of a barrel of flour, and the country-dwellers have a half barrel of flour, six pounds in excess of that.

Mr. Abel emphasized the fact that any person found making purchases in excess are subject to heavy fine as well as imprisonment.

The administrator stated that it was reported at the meeting in Knoxville that merchants would be entitled to not exceeding 1 cent profit on sugar. He said that this product is not very short here in America, but it is needed very badly at the front. The shortage of flour in this section was looked upon by those present as being very serious.

Mrs. Ingram, who lives at 1022 East Eighth street, said that her son's questionnaire came the day he left for France and he had never received it. The mother said her son is well and enjoying the life of a soldier.

STREET CAR RIOTING CASES THROWN OUT OF COURT

Gen. Whitaker Announces That He Could Not Sustain the Charge on Evidence.

Eight cases of rioting in East Chattanooga were dismissed in the criminal court Tuesday afternoon by Judge McReynolds, verdicts of not guilty being entered. Only after Gen. M. N. Whitaker had talked to all the witnesses in the cases and learned that he could not sustain a case on their testimony. The defendants were represented by Senator W. H. Cummings, Gen. Whitaker on trial and John J. Lively. Those on trial were Sidney Eldridge, John Cordell, Jim Cartwright, Henry Meyers, John Diamond, Gene Chambliss, Tom Desha and Carroll Cartwright. All the young men were from East Chattanooga and were charged with throwing rocks into the street cars during the last street car strike. The defendants all denied their guilt.

When the case was first called for trial the defendants through their attorneys promptly announced ready for trial. Gen. Whitaker then ordered all the state's witnesses in his office and after talking with them decided to call the case late Tuesday afternoon. However, when the case was called for trial the state's witnesses did not appear. Gen. Whitaker told the court he did not believe a case could not swear it was the defendants, state's witnesses said they believed they saw the men and others said they could not swear it was the defendants, etc. Anyhow, the general stated, he did not believe he could make a case and the men were given a verdict of not guilty.

Wilson Cleared Situation.

Paris, Feb. 13.—In the opinion of the press, the situation has been cleared by President Wilson's remarks in his address to congress concerning the German military autocracy, taken in conjunction with the recent statement of Emperor William that Germany was not ready to recognize her victors. The emperor's utterances are accepted as expressing the real sentiments of the dominant class in Germany and the conclusion is drawn that there must be an implacable warfare until German militarism is finally defeated.

CANADA STRONGER IN MEN AND MATERIAL THAN EVER

Canadian Army Headquarters in France, Feb. 13.—(By Canadian Press, Limited).—After three years and a half of war Canada is entering upon the spring campaign stronger in men and material and guns than at any previous time. The Canadians are holding a larger front than ever before. While military regulations prevent any extensive statement from the field as to developments it may be said that one effect of the recent increase in forces has been to add materially to the fighting strength in the line. Canada's splendid home support of the military service measure has placed the military authorities in a position where they not only are assured of reinforcements for the existing units, but can add largely to their fighting establishments.

THIRTY THOUSAND MORE TROOPS TO BE SENT TO FORT OGLETHORPE

Secretary Baker Discusses Plans of War Department as to Enlarging Camp Greenleaf.

CAPT. SPAULDING EXPLAINS PSYCHOLOGY OF FEAR TO CADETS

Tells How Panics Cause Men in Reserve Forces to Retreat While First Line Sweeps On Through Fire to Victory.

"The cravens of the morning may be the heroes of the afternoon." In his lecture on "The Psychology of the War" to the cadets of the reserve officers' training camp Wednesday night, Capt. Spaulding explains why an army runs one hour and fights its way to victory the next.

Panics, said Capt. Spaulding, are governed by crowd psychology, and depend very slightly on the individual members of the army.

"Fear is contagious. Instances have been known in military history where the fear of a conquered army has infected the troops of the victors and both armies have fled precipitately from the field.

"An extraordinary instance of panic occurred at the battle of Goss, where 105 Austrians charged 6,000 French troops and routed them completely. The reason for this was the French had been marching from 3 a.m. to 10 p.m. and they were nervous and exhausted."

"Another curious case of crowd panic was Hobson's return from the Merrimack exploit. During a lecture, an overwrought woman rushed up and seized Capt. Hobson; the result was a rush and a kiss from every woman."

Whether this was a panic or a charge to victory, Capt. Spaulding did not say, but it was part of the mob psychology which makes or breaks a battle. "The history of battles develops one curious fact about panics," continued the officer. "Men become panic stricken in the second line more easily than

NO ACTION TAKEN IN CARTER CASE

Evidence Regarding Killing of Negro Not Submitted—Jury Makes Another Report.

The grand jury's report of Wednesday did not show that any action has been taken in the cases of Luther Carter, charged with murder, and Frank Carr, charged with being an accessory. It was stated that no evidence was brought before the jury at this session, but probably will be at the next session. Day, charged with being an accessory, is charged with killing a negro named Will Bird in a raid on a crap game. Day was with Carter when the raid took place.

Nothing in the report of the jury Wednesday was of special interest except an indictment against Nathan Ginsburg charging embezzlement. It is charged by R. T. Wright, Sr., that Ginsburg, while acting as his agent, collected some money which he failed to account for. Ginsburg is a well-known merchant.

Eleven more indictments were returned against women charged with vagrancy. Fifteen indictments were returned against defendants on whisky selling charges. Included in the number is Wiley E. Hirschman, a well-known resident of South Chattanooga. Twenty-six no true bills were returned. The grand jury following its report adjourned until March 5. The indictments and no true bills are:

BILL TO ENJOIN HOTEL MERGER

Robert R. Meyer Charges Associates With Effort to Avoid Income Taxes.

A bill charging that the merger of the Chattanooga Hotel company and the Patten Hotel company was for the purpose of avoiding the federal income tax and to gain possession of $50,000 deposited in a local bank was filed in chancery court Wednesday morning. The style of the case is Robert R. Meyer, of Birmingham, Ala., against the Chattanooga Hotel company, the Patten Hotel company, J. B. Pound and other stockholders of the two companies. The bill was filed by Mr. Meyer through his attorney, Judge Floyd Estill. Mr. Meyer alleges in the bill that he is a large stockholder of the Chattanooga Hotel company, and that at the meeting it was stated plainly that the purpose of the merger was for the purpose of avoiding the government tax.

Chancellor W. B. Garvin granted the injunction prayed for and the case will be set for an early hearing.

The bill charges that a merger and seeks to rescind the action of the majority of the stockholders of the two hotel companies in transferring their assets to another corporation organized to take them over. Mr. Meyer, who is a large stockholder in the Chattanooga Hotel company, charges that he fought the resolution at the stockholders' meeting, taking the position that the action was illegal and void, and he now seeks to have the action rescinded and restore the old corporation, "Chattanooga Hotel company," to its former status and in the event relief cannot be given by the court he asks to recover the intrinsic value of his stock. He alleges that the object of J. B. Pound and his associates was to effect a merger and to avoid the payment of the federal income tax and that this purpose was so stated as one of the purposes at the meeting that was called to take this action and at which the resolution was passed effecting the merger.

Mr. Meyer, the complainant, is the operating lessee of the Hermitage and Maxwell hotels in Nashville, the Windsor, Jacksonville, Fla., and Wyndcroft in Atlanta, Ga.

The bill states that the other object of Mr. Pound and his associates was to get possession of $50,000 that had been deposited in a local bank to guarantee the payment of the Stone Fort Land company for its rents.

When the bill was filed Chancellor Garvin was holding court and no action was taken by him at that time, but later he granted the injunction asked for.

The two corporations were recently consolidated, and being stated at the time that the two corporations were for the same purpose of operating the Patten and that only one corporation was necessary.

OHIO RIVER ICE GORGE BEGINS TO PASS LOUISVILLE

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 13.—Ice from the great gorge in the Ohio river at Sugar creek bend began to pass Louisville today, pounding the piers of concrete light towers, each thirty feet in height, on the dam at the head of the canal.

With the flocks came the wreck of what appeared to be a ferry boat, barges, small boats and wreckage of houses. A shanty boat with a man aboard was in the whirling mass. He waved frantically for help, but it was impossible for those on shore to reach him.

The river rose three and one-half feet today to 35.5 and is expected to reach 37, but probably not exceed flood stage of 28 feet tomorrow.

All river craft except one ferryboat and a few barges have been removed to shelter.
